Acknowledgement of Country

We, the English Language Learning for Indigenous Children (ELLIC) project, acknowledge that Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples are the Traditional Custodians and the first storytellers of the lands on which we live and work.

We honour Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples' continuous connection to Country, waters, skies and communities, and we pay our respects to Elders past and present.

We celebrate Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander stories, traditions, education practices and living cultures.

What fruit do you like?

I like apples.

They are crisp and crunchy.

What fruit do you like?

I don't like apples.

But I do like mango.

I like watermelon.
It is pink and sweet.
What fruit do you like?

I like watermelon too.

And I like pears.

But I like bananas more.

They are soft and yellow.

What fruit do you like?

I like bananas too.

And I like pineapple.

But I like grapes more.

They are green and crunchy.

What fruit do you like?

I don't like grapes.

I like strawberries.

They are red and delicious.

I like papaya too.

But oranges are my favourite.

They are juicy and sweet.

Do you like fruit salad?
